COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

A special town meeting will be held in the near future to see if the town will vote to make a change in the Zoning Ordinance. The area in question consists of about four acres and is located between the rear of the residences on Elm and Mechanic Streets and borders on Railroad Street from Bethel General Store to the property line between Clinton Jenkins and Marguerite Sumner. This is currently zoned as residential. The request is to change the area to a commercial zone. A meeting of the Planning Board has been held and they are recommending the change. The purpose of the change is to make the area available to commercial interests.

There is also another matter to be considered by the voters at a special town meeting. The housing project started by Frank Lowell and Ernest Blake will require sewer and a street. Request is being made to lay out a street in accordance with a plan that has been presented to the Town Office, and to build the street and lay sewer to accommodate the two houses under construction.

The main entrance to the Community Room has been changed so that the doors when opened will swing out. The change is made to conform to the law regulating entrances to public buildings.

Sincerely,

Harold L. Bean

Thirty-five members attended HYDE HOSPITAL CHANGES NAME The name of the Hyde Memorial Rehabilitation Hospital has been changed to the Hyde Rehabilitation Center as a result of a motion passed by the Pine Tree Society's Executive Committee at its regular monthly meeting. This change is being made to better define the type of treatment currently being offered at Hyde. The change also provides consistency with other rehabilitation facilities, which typically are called Centers.

In announcing this change, Mr. Edward A. Myers, Society president, stated that "with the opening of the Marie Preston Wing in October and the increasing of one of the Society's cottages as a training center for retarded children, under the auspices of the Bath-Brunswick Regional Association for Retarded Children, it is fitting and timely that this expanded scope be reflected in the change in the hospital's name."

The Hyde Rehabilitation Center will continue to serve to meet the needs of handicapped children in the state, as it has over the past years. With the additional facilities, expansion of the adult program and the variety of services offered have now been made possible. Some part of the property owned by the Pine Tree Society may be made available to meet community needs in the Bath area as a result of another motion passed by the Society's Executive Committee. In commenting on this decision, Mr. Myers remarked that "although the Society must consider retaining sufficient land to meet future expansion of the Hyde Hospital, it is considered timely to re-evaluate our needs to determine if some property cannot be made available to serve a useful purpose for the community."

This decision was reached, in part, as a result of a request from the Bath Jaycees that consideration be given to making land available for construction.

MAKE SURE TAIL LIGHT OPERATING CORRECTLY

"That rear light on your car is a safety essential. Be sure that it is operating properly." The Maine Highway Safety Committee offer this word of caution to Maine motorists.

"Drivers behind you rely upon that taillight for judging the distance they should maintain between cars. A light that is not working properly, or a lens that is coated with grease and dirt to the extent that it impairs efficiency, deprives both you and the driver behind you of valuable protection."

"Keep that taillight in first-class working order. Don't become involved in an accident because of the 'Light that Failed.'"

COUNTRY FLAVOR

HAMMOCK DIPLOMACY

We believe that most mature citizens agree that half a century ago there was less chill in diplomatic circles than is evident today. We cannot recall squabbles over round tables versus square; history does not record the plethora of opposed opinions that distinguishes current get-togethers.

It is our belief that diplomats, law-makers and law enforcement officials would benefit from regular sessions in old-fashioned hammocks. On a warmish day it is good for a man to stretch out with his head and feet slightly elevated. Solid countrymen have strung hammocks from house corners to sturdy maple trees since colonial days.

There is nothing wrong with a barrel-stave hammock if it is well padded with a couple of Mother's discarded quilts and a horse blanket or two. But if one can afford it, there is something satisfying about a Damsak Pattern Hammock with "full fancy colors, strong spreader, and detachable tufted pillow with extra wooden bar. Magnificent, full, deep, slatted valance with fringe and scroll pattern. The most beautiful hammock ever placed on the market." That's what the catalog said, and while the price was a steep $2.65, a man felt entitled to splurge on his comfort.

We are in favor of progress, and some of the new, complicated, awaying, shaking and rolling contraptions doubtless have points in their favor. But in a world full of shivers, quivers, and tensions, there is a place for something that fosters quiet repose and an opportunity for non-fussy contemplation. We commend the idea of old-time hammocks to our leaders—and to all those who help pay the bills for leadership.

Thursday, May 4

Read John 6:30-40 Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. (John 6:37.)

Word came to a missionary that a woman had died. When he saw her, he persuaded her people not to bury her, for he said she was not dead but in a coma. After some hours she regained consciousness. Her astonished relatives listened with great respect to her words.

What she told them confirmed what the missionaries had been telling the people. She told them that she had seen a beautiful place where there was no sickness or hunger. She said, "Jesus is so good, and I am so bad." But He was her Savior. Gone was all her fear, and she eagerly awaited her call to return to that good place. It came within a few days.

In that village five men came to the mission, seeking the way of salvation. They opened their hearts to Christ. Thus was the church established in another dark corner of the world.

The church is surely at work in the world. Even now many persons are hearing of the one true God for the first time. The work is the Holy Spirit's—but he uses human messengers.

PRAYER: O God of the nations, bless the work of Thy church in every land. Confound the work of sin and bring glory to the name of Thy victorious Son in hearts where darkness still holds sway. In His name. Amen.

Thought For The Day The work of salvation is the Holy Spirit's, but He uses human messengers.

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY We, as teenagers, know our parents are trying to teach their children manners when they themselves are not "practicing what they preach." I know that this saying is old and redundant; maybe because it is used so frequently it is no longer effective, but here is one that is even older: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Are you, the parents of Bethel, going to tell me these old sayings mean nothing to you?

The point I am going to make is to be a good listener. don't teach your children the opposite from what they are taught in school or in Boy and Girl Scouts. You know that most children follow examples set by their parents.

When a man or woman, for example, a Scout leader, gives his time to teach our children the material which will give them some of the background for becoming an adult, which you are too busy or too impatient to teach, the least you can do is to show your respect by listening when leaders are teaching your children, loyalty, honor, and respect.

Are you parents forgetting that you were once boys and girls, who were taught to listen when spoken to and not to speak when others are speaking?

Help those that teach your children by setting that example and showing them that you have loyalty, honor and respect also.

Be a good listener, so when it is your turn to speak, people will listen to you. An Interested Teenager

Weekly Stock Market Round-Up

Prepared by the Investment Research Department of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., 15 Broad Street, New York 5, N. Y.
Members of the New York Stock Exchange

May 3, 1961

RESEARCH REVIEW

This week we have singled out five stocks which appear particularly attractive in today's market. Four of these have been specifically singled out in our new Sentinel Service for the individual portfolio.

Amerada Petroleum has been acting well in the revitalized oil group, as rated by Sentinel Service. The stock is at a low level both historically and in regard to its asset value. In addition to large reserves in the U. S., the company has an exciting potential in its Libyan acreage in partnership with Continental Oil and Ohio Oil.
Detroit Mobile Homes appears to be an outstanding value. The stock is selling at about 16 and had earnings of $1.59 last year. It appears possible that 1961 will yield per-share results of over $2.00 a share. Mobile homes in the past five years have accounted for over 10% of total housing starts and predictions are that by 1964 over 200,000 will be sold by the industry.

Pfaffert Permutit is a most important factor in the water treatment industry. It is also the largest producer of corrosion resistant, glass lined steel processing equipment. It is highly rated by our Sentinel Service. Earnings in 1960 were $3.82 per share and this year $4.00 seem a possibility, which may lead to liberalization of the $14.00 dividend.

Scott Paper is one of the real growth stocks of the U. S., listed in Sentinel Service. It is a blue chip which has increased its dividend in every year in the last ten and earnings in 1960 reached $3.40 a share. Its well-known name and high-grade products insure a bright future for this aggressive company.

The last company singled out this week by Sentinel Service is Technical Material, a leader in the development of single side band communications equipment. The company's backlog was recently announced as $8.5-million, up from $3.5-million a year ago, and by May, the eighth month of their current fiscal year, total 1960 billings are expected to be surpassed.
The total sales have gone from $2-million to $6.6-million and are estimated as better than $9-million this year with a possible 75% share in earnings. This is an attractive capital gains speculation, in our opinion.

SCHOOL NEWS

A group planning to organize the West Paris PTA will meet at the West Paris High School Monday, May 8, at 8 P. M. An organizational meeting was held last month at which a nominating committee was designated. The committee members, Richard Baker, Ivan Morey, and Mrs. A. Stell-horn, will present a slate of nominations at Monday's meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The featured speaker at last month's meeting was Frederick Halla of Portland, former president of the State PTA who spoke on the history and purpose of the PTA. Halla stated that the PTA began in 1897 and has grown steadily until it now includes 42,000 local groups across the nation with a combined membership of 12 million. He said that there are five objectives shared by all PTA groups; promote child welfare; raise the standard of home life; develop closer ties between the home and school;

promote closer cooperation between parents and teachers; and, help to attain the highest possible goals possible for each child.

Halla also emphasized the importance of education today saying that the greatest resource we have today "lies in the minds of our children." He pointed out "that we must do all we can to help our children develop to their fullest capacity." The school, he felt, could not do this work alone but the home must help to make the child feel he is necessary and important to both family and community.

The former State PTA president emphasized that the child's interest in education is best developed by mutual effort on the part of school and home.

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres. —
Everyone has returned to school after a week's vacation. The Union School pupils have been cleaning up the school yard, cutting the side hill and cutting some bushes, trying to make a better place to play. They are in hopes some dirt will be carted in to fill up the water hole at the foot of the hill this year which would be a big step in sanitation, also give a big area to play.

A picture was shown Monday on "The Story of Leather" which they all enjoyed.

Daylight savings starts this week. Poor children, up before daylight, home in the middle of the day and hating to go to bed at night until dark. This is the period when school work really slows down.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKeen, Jr. and Wanda, have completed moving to John McKeen, Sr.'s, former home on Stearns Hill.

Mrs. Guyson Davis is working part time at the Wesso Stand.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis called on several friends in Bryant Pond, Sunday.

Mrs. Ellis Davis was in West Paris Monday helping on refreshment committee at the Teachers' Club meeting held at the school house. Mrs. Carolyn Baker and Lettie Day, also helped on the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Andrews attended the reception tendered Mrs. Harold Perham at the West Paris Gym, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews, Jackson and Rebecca, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Curtis, Jr., and family went to Shaga Pond on Camp Gladly Sunday for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lamb and children spent the day at their camp on North Pond.

Mrs. Mina Irish, Buckfield, spent Wednesday to Saturday with Mrs. Harlan Andrews, recently.

George Shepard of South Weymouth is able to return home from the hospital where he has been laid up with a heart condition for the last five weeks. Many friends will be glad to hear of his recovery.

Ralph Dean who has been convalescing from a heart attack is able to be out again. He may drive his car for short trips now.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Andrews and Annie Immonen went to Auburn Thursday to visit with Mrs. Edward Penley as it was Mrs. Penley's birthday. Mrs. Immonen visited also with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jacob Immonen, who is in the CMG Hospital.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement. Also for the cards and food.

Farm-to-market road between Danville and North Danville, Vt.

At Danville, Vermont...

7-year test proves soil-cement pavement is economical to build and maintain

This farm-to-market road used to be impassable every spring. Not any more. In 1953, the Vermont State Department of Highways, in co-operation with the town of Danville, started tests to determine an answer to this problem. Two 1,500-ft. test strips of the road were paved. One was of gravel base and asphalt surface. The other was soil-cement base and asphalt seal coat. Compared to the gravel base test strip, the soil-cement test pavement showed an impressive saving in initial cost because it used materials on the site. And a continuing 7-year check proved that the soil-cement pavement required no maintenance except for a seal coat. On this basis, the full 3.8 miles of road were paved with soil-cement in 1960.

It's easy to see why soil-cement pavement costs less to lay, less to maintain. Most of the materials cost nothing. The main ingredient is soil at the site—even broken-up blacktop or gravel. Mixed with portland cement and water, rolled and topped with bituminous coating—the pavement's finished. Soil-cement roads stay rigid; don't pothole or wash out at the edges; save tax money, too, because of low maintenance. They stretch road budgets and let engineers plan ahead.
